Challenger School to Open Third Nevada Location

Las Vegas, NV—April 12, 2010—Challenger School is pleased to announce a new campus in the Las Vegas area. The Challenger Los Prados campus, located at 5150 N. Jones Blvd., is now taking applications for summer and fall 2010.

The new Los Prados location will offer preschool through first grade programs. It will be the third Nevada campus, joining Challenger's established campuses in Summerlin and Green Valley. Challenger School first came to Las Vegas in 2000 and provides quality education for preschool through eighth grade students at 21 campuses in four states.

Barbara B. Baker, CEO and founder, asserts, "Challenger has earned its prestigious reputation due to our students' high academic achievement for over 47 years. Our students have always attained, on average, the 90th percentile on national standardized tests. We're proud of that record and are committed to maintaining it.

"We practice our mission every day—teaching children to be productive, self-reliant individuals. By starting early, we take advantage of the prime time for learning in a child's life and set a foundation that allows students to successfully pursue any course of study they choose—in the sciences or the arts."

Founded in 1963 and headquartered in Sandy, Utah, Challenger School is an independent private school (accepting neither government monies nor private donations) that emphasizes the rights and values described in America's founding documents. Though Challenger students excel in sciences, speech, drama, and music, the curriculum focuses on the core foundations of knowledge (reading, math, composition, and history). Challenger has 21 campuses in California, Idaho, Nevada, and Utah, which serve more than 10,000 preschool through eighth grade students annually. For more information, go to ChallengerSchool.com.
